TINYTAP
<https://www.tinytap.com/>

TinyTap has a simple and straightforward system for you to not only create gamified activities but also interactive lessons. It covers K-12 and even for all ages. You can make use of various media to build your “game”. There is also a huge collection of gamified lessons created by other educators.

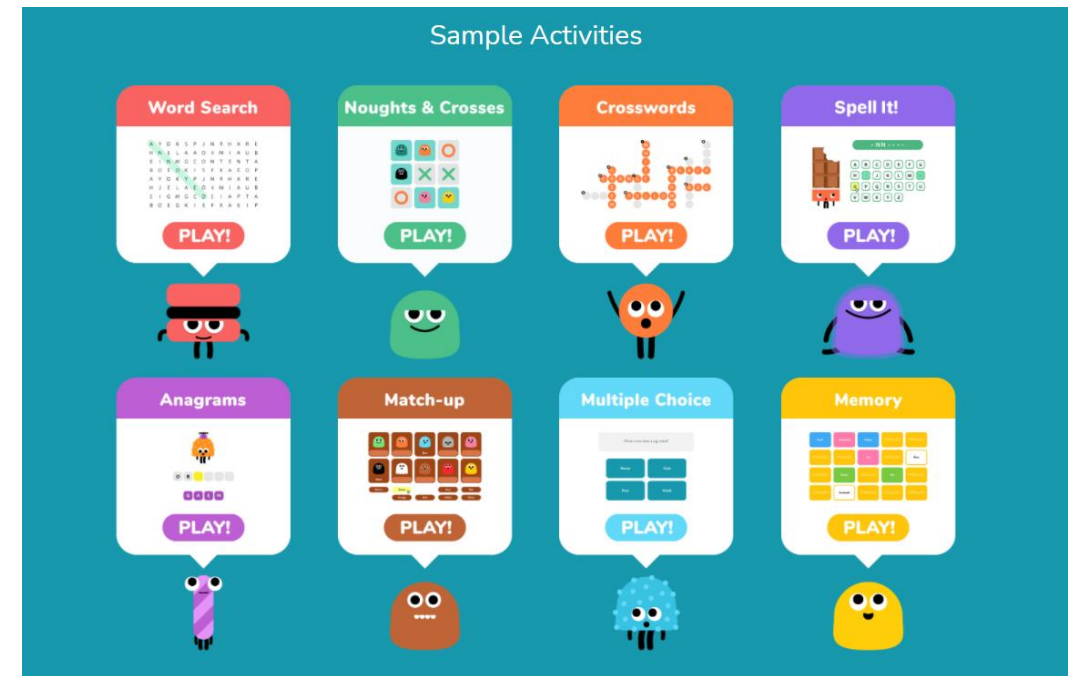

The screenshot shows the TinyTap website interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the text "What would you like to learn?" and a user profile for "MAHFUZH MOHAMAD". Below the search bar, the main heading is "Math Basics | 4-5" with a dropdown menu for "Age 4-5". Underneath, it lists "Subjects" as "Math" and provides a "Learn More" link. The main content area displays a list of math activities, including "Quantities 1-5 Math", "Practice Quantities 1-5 Math", and "1:1 Ratio Math". Each activity is represented by a colorful icon and a play button.

EDUCANDY

<https://www.educandy.com/>

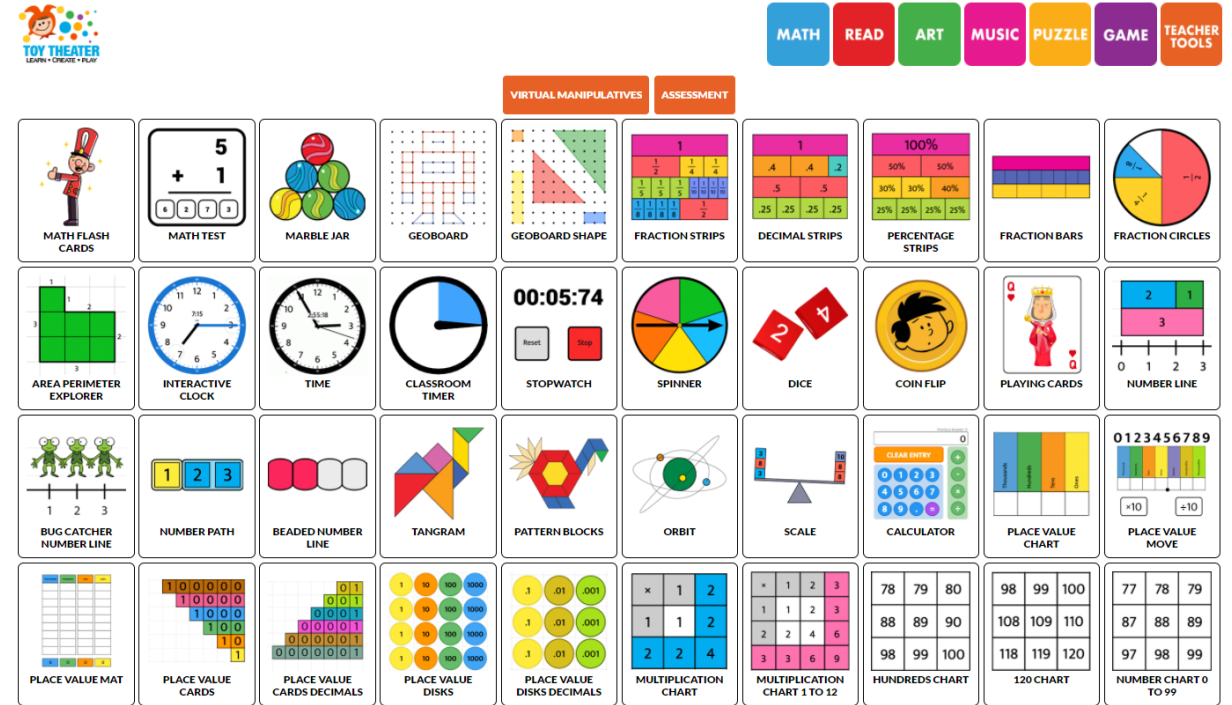

Educandy is an interesting tool for vocabulary teaching. With Educandy, you can create interactive learning games in minutes just by using a list of words that you would like students to learn. It comes with different game types from Anagrams to Word Search

TOYTHEATER

<https://toytheater.com/>

ToyTheater shares their useful tools for teachers to use in their lessons. Instead of using complicated game creation systems, they list tools such as timer, dice, spinner, scales, etc, which you could use as part of your own activities.

WISC GAME BUILDER

<https://www.wisc-online.com/gamebuilder>

Wisc Online has a collection of games, which are created using their game builder. It has some interesting collections of games from beekeeper to Rapid Fire. It comes in a very engaging interface too!

Flip tiles

Explore a series of two sided tiles by tapping to zoom and swiping to flip.

BLOOKET

<https://www.blooket.com/>

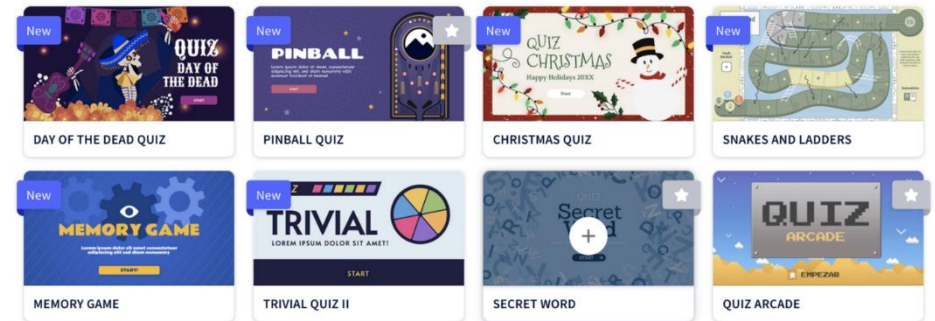

Similar to Kahoot! or Quizizz, but packed with different game modes, which can be very engaging to young learners.

GENIAL.LY

<https://genial.ly>

Genial.ly contains a large number of templates to be used for gamification, from memory game to even escape rooms. The interface is user-friendly but the free version has some restrictions in terms of its settings and access to design elements. But it is still very powerful to design interactive activities!
